

Data Entry before & after

Twelve fictional lead rows, checked, de-duplicated and reconciled to a clean master list

The assignment

Twelve fictional incoming lead rows need to be checked for duplicate contacts, inconsistent names and statuses, missing fields, and invalid phone numbers. The goal is a cleaner master list with a traceable link back to each original row.

What this sample shows

— Duplicate review

— Field formatting

— Status normalization

— Missing-data flags

— Source-to-master reconciliation

— Manual quality checks

— Follow-up ownership

NOTE

Dates in the cleaned master list use ISO date format (yyyy-mm-dd), e.g. 2026-09-03. Three contacts remain on hold until missing or invalid details are confirmed. The same records are in the editable workbook, Lead_Cleanup_Before_After.xlsx.

WHAT WAS IMPROVED

Duplicates reconciled by matching contact information and manual review; company names and status labels made more consistent; missing or invalid details kept visible rather than silently guessed. The master preserves provenance through source-row IDs.

FINAL QA FLAG

Three records are on hold for missing or invalid information; no values were guessed.

Quality check & follow-up register

Reconciliation, open issues and final review before a live CRM import

Reconciliation

Duplicates merged: #2 and #10 into C-001 · #4 into C-002 · #12 into C-003

Open data issues

CONTACT	ISSUE	REQUIRED NEXT ACTION	STATE
C-004	Company and suburb not supplied	Confirm both with contact	Pending
C-005	First name incomplete; phone too short	Request full name and valid phone	Pending
C-007	Mobile number has only 9 digits	Verify from original source/contact	Pending

Do not infer missing contact details or claim fictional follow-ups were actually sent.

Final review before a live CRM import

- 1
- Confirm source dates
- 2
- Validate complete emails and phone numbers
- 3
- Keep unresolved contacts in a review queue
- 4
- Reconcile status values and record source IDs
